

MURESCO

The Best Wall Finish

Only One Coat Required—Easy to Apply

Unequaled for All Classes of

Wall and Ceiling Decorating

Muresco can be applied by any one, to any kind of surface. It will not rub off or peel, shows no laps, spots or brush marks, and is the only material producing that flat, subdued, velvety effect, so much admired. It is made in a large variety of handsome tints and colors, also white. Ready for use when mixed with hot water. It can be re-coated any number of times and removed easily by washing when desired, thus insuring walls being kept in perfect condition. Beware of wall finishes containing lime or plaster that cannot be removed by washing when desired; they are neither practical or sanitary, and will eventually peel off, leaving the walls in ruined condition. Muresco is in use by the best decorators in the country.

HAVE FABRUS BADLY FADED

Basketball Team of Tucson High Will Have None of the Tempe Normals, Valley Champs, Until More Efficient at Game.

Tucson high school is preparing for a basketball season. Tucson high is also showing most commendable caution in declining to take up the proposition of the Tempe normal school for a series of games during the Xmas holidays. Tucson high is otherwise all right; and at the top of the deck.

With the election of Leslie Hanks as captain and Charles Meyer manager, the Tucson boys' basketball team was practically launched into its 1912-13 season. The student body placed a guarantee of financial and moral support before the manager and captain so the season is a sure enough go. But when it came to accepting the kind offer of Tempe normal for a brace or three or four little arguments during the holidays, the Tucson boys displayed a set of "tackles" that make Old Roman Fabrus look like a second hand Latin pony after the whole class has ridden it for a semester or two. Delay is what the Fabruses want, and delay is one thing they will have—with the accent on the will. They plead lack of practice, while the normals are well along in their season.

The Tempe team is champ of the valley, by reason of their continued run of victories. To occupy that exalted place, they must be husky. Tucson guessed it the first time, and played safe on the series business. No risks go with them until they are at least half way to a sure thing.

What they have is not known here, but it must be a plenty. Tucson always did breed brawny athletes, anyway.

Among those who are out for the high school team are Capt. Les Hanks, Geo. Petersen, Thos. Wyche, Archie Meyer, Lauren Drown, Earl Brooks, Dick Meyer, George Skinner, Carl Hofmeister, James Grant, Grant Quiley, Pat Ryan, Bill Hendry, Cecil Hamilton, John Ramage and Esko Hoffman.

Harry Orchardman sprung a sensation the other day when he offered a cup to be the object of a struggle between the grid games of the Tucson high school and the University of Arizona. He proposes to have that game if it takes a leg, and to make it a financial success if he has to declare every business house in Tucson closed for some Friday afternoon, when the eleven will rush into deadly embrace. It is a stunt that has never been attempted before, but according to Harry it ought to prove interesting. Though the high school scholars do not expect to win from their elder brothers, they have promised to make enough noise to deceive all but the old stagers.

An annual dinner to the varsity team will be pulled off tonight in Tucson. A feature of the dinner will be the election of a 1913 captain. Candidates for the office are Wilkie, McIntosh and Merritt, the present chief.

A VANISHING ART OF THE INDIANS

It Is Shown in the Basket Collection of Balke's Big Curio Store.

Indian baskets are becoming rare and in a short time they will be expensive, found only in the homes of wealthy connoisseurs. At one time nearly all the tribes manufactured baskets, first as articles of utility and later as ornaments, as it was found that they had struck the fancy of the white man. The baskets of the whites were never beautiful or picturesque.

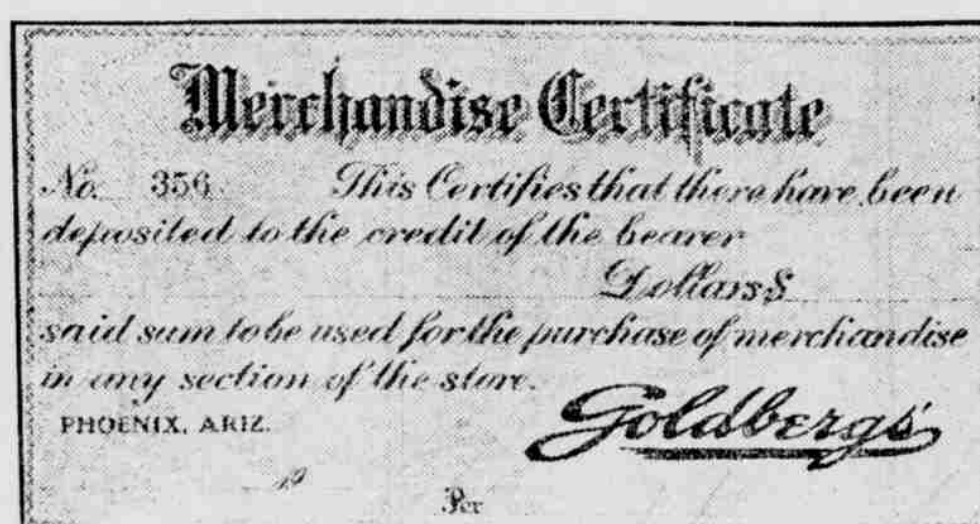

Many of the Indian tribes have now abandoned basket making altogether. For many years, Mr. Balke has been making a collection of Indian baskets and there is represented in his collection of baskets of all the tribes that were making them when he began forming the collection. His stock embraces baskets of the Pimas, the Apaches, the Hopis and all the California and Oregon and Washington Indians.

These baskets would make excellent Christmas gifts, especially for women, for every woman would like to have at least the nucleus of a collection. They have practical uses, such as for sewing baskets, waste paper baskets and for wall ornaments.

Here is a totally different subject, Christmas cards. The postcard stock of the Balke Big Curio Store is always the largest in the southwest and card buyers always wait until the stock is full before making their purchases. The stock is now in that condition and the cards, the most beautiful the Big Curio Store has ever handled, are going at ten cents a dozen.

Dr. Wm. Sadler, author of "The Cause and Cure of Colds," says that common colds should be taken seriously, especially when they "hang on." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable household medicine for coughs and colds, equally effective for children and for grown persons. Take it when you feel a cold coming on. It will avert danger of serious results and cure quickly. No harmful drugs. Elvey & Hulett.—Advertisement.

TRADE EXTENSION EVERYTHING READY

Special Advertising Features Have Been Perfected.

All the required forms and special advertising featuring for the new Phoenix Trade Extension movement have been perfected and are now in the hands of the printer who made the lowest and best bid.

To prevent error the manager has arranged for every advertiser to correct the proof on his own particular advertising before the permanent forms are electrotyped.

At the same time the $10 preliminary fee is being collected. Money will be needed within a few days to pay the big printing bills. Besides there had been a rumor that some of the merchants who had gone into the new trade boosting movement might which on their agreements when asked to make good. The rumor was clearly without foundation, as every man who was asked for his money yesterday either gave his check at once or promised to do so before Monday. About one third of the membership paid up yesterday. The rest will be collected today.

It is reported on the streets that negotiations are pending for the adoption of the new organization by a local organization. The manager of the Trade Extension plan was questioned about the rumor last night, but asked to be excused from discussing the matter, further than to say his organization was always ready to do anything in the line of developing new trade, and that it would like to claim kin with anybody or any association interested in the welfare of the city. He would not deny that overtures were being made by his organization in line with the rumors.

BANQUET IN HONOR OF LIEUT. JEWETT TONIGHT

Officers of N. G. A. in Valley to Dine With Him at Ford.

The officers of the National Guard active and retired who are residents of the valley will gather tonight at 7:30 at the Ford Hotel at a farewell dinner given by them to First Lieutenant F. F. Jewett U. S. A., who is about to be relieved from duty as inspector instructor of the National Guard and assigned back to line officer duties.

During his term with the citizen soldiery Lieutenant Jewett has formed a number of very warm friends who regret his leaving but as soldiers feel called upon to bow to the superior authority and submit to the order. They however are determined to speed the parting guest as heartily as they have cooperated with him in the work of the guard since he has been in Arizona.

Lieutenant LaGarde of the 10th infantry who has been assigned to succeed Lieutenant Jewett is expected to arrive at almost any time now, and many hope that he will reach Phoenix in time to attend the banquet in honor of his predecessor.

COUGHING AT NIGHT

One bad cough can keep the whole family awake at night. Phil. Discrepan, Schaffer, Mich., says: "I could not sleep on account of a bad cough, and I was very weak. I used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and soon the cough left and I sleep soundly at night." Elvey & Hulett.—Advertisement.
